The mosquitoes are the worst that has ever been known at this season of the year, and are causing great annoyance to man and beast. They are not of the ordinary small sort, but are large, and seem to go in swarms. Many years ago, before this country began to develop, it was unusual thing for people to have to leave the fields early in the evening, but the mosquitoes then were of the small breed. It is now very annoying to drive through any woodland, and the farmers say that picking cotton now would be an impossibility.

Bob Easley has ordered the Herald sent to his father-in-law, W. H. Sutton.

Chief of Police Elwood Scott of Caruthersville motored over to this city last Wednesday night.

The remains were carried to Moscow, Ky., for interment. Mr. Dewese was a good citizen and leaves a most estimable family, to whom the Herald joins with their many friends in condolence and sympathy.

New Cotton Firm.

Last week H. Highfill of Caruthersville and Fred Morgan of this city closed a deal leasing the Modern Gin, which is one of the largest and best in the county.

Mr. Highfill is one of our well-known cotton men, and Fred Morgan has had many years' experience buying cotton on this market and is well known to cotton growers, who will welcome him back into the active cotton market.

To those who know Fred Morgan, the above deal means that this season Hayti will be a live cotton center, and that the top prices will be paid.

Capt. Dan Haynes of Malden came over last week and spent a few days visiting his daughter, Mrs. Von Mayes, and Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Mayes.

Nat and Houston Buckley returned Saturday from a visit to relatives at Henderson, Pinson and Humboldt, Tenn., and it is needless to say they had a good time.
